

The Irish Congress of Trade Unions is hosting a half day seminar on the 'New Economic Model' to inform affiliates of our proposed strategy to promote a high-road economic model which will seek to broaden labour market opportunities and promote collective bargaining on the island of Ireland.

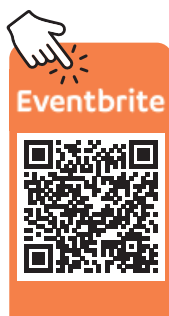

BDC 2023 endorsed the Executive Council Motion 'New Economic Model' which called for a debate throughout the trade union movement to help "develop a comprehensive long-term model of economic development for both economies on the island of Ireland." In this meeting we will look at:

- How the state is resourced
- The right to collective bargaining
- An inclusive economy for all that is sustainable
- How to be prepared for future economic challenges

We look forward to outlining the proposed strategy to all affiliates and to hear your opinions and your views as to what should be in the final economic model which will take place in the CWU Head Office on Monday 20 May 2024.

We encourage union members, activists and officials to attend this seminar.
